Tastings, pairings of the Atlanta Food and Wine Fest take over city

Mary Blackmon, from Farm Star Living and owner of the newly open Harvest Store, will be one of the moderators showing how regional farmers work to produce the best products possible.

“You learn so much about food and wine [at this event]. Fabulous chefs gather to have everything in one place,” said Blackmon. “They share their education, food, tricks and personalities for residents to take home and enjoy.”

Located in the Greensward Promenade area of Piedmont Park, the tasting tents showcase the region’s best flavors and chefs on an interactive exploration of the South by offering inspired cuisine paired perfectly with wines, beers and spirits from more than 120 purveyors.
